CONSOLIDATION NOT WANTED.

There is trouble over the proposed consolidation of schools on east side valley, and strong opposition is developed. It is proposed to consolidate the Sulphur Spring and Oak Grove schools, and build a new schoolhouse to accommodate ten grades. This sounds good on paper, but with no roads, it is not feasible and the people are opposing it bitterly. A meeting was held in April when the State Superintendent will be in attendance to try to talk the scheme into the people—at the expense of the school fund, of course. It is likewise proposed, or about to be proposed, to consolidate the Caroline Chapel and Mineral Springs schools, and this, also, does not appeal to the people of either district. It always raises a rumble to propose a change of location of a school house. People placed there by hard work, and they have grown into the minds of the communities as part of their existence, and any attempt to change meets fierce opposition, and they are not to be blamed. Consolidation, however, means new school buildings and this means that thousands of children will get little or no schooling until the building is paid for. Marion county schools have been suffering from a too liberal amount of building debts and the people are tired of it.

All the large places are being consulted as to whether automobile owners will pay one dollar tax on their cars or not. The smaller places like Marion county, Sequatchie county, Bledsoe county and Grundy county, are being ignored. We have a premonition that very little of that 50 million will ever see the rural districts, the cities and large towns getting the paved roads.

Wonder if Marion county automobile owners will have to pay that dollar per horse power tax on top of Mr. Cameron's county automobile tax as amended to equal the state tax. In that event the tax on a Tin Lizzie would be $36.50, or $3.04 a month.

This country is again Presidentless, the servant of the people having again departed for "Stirrup" to learn something about his "League of Nations," for he does not seem to know much about it in his own country.

March 3-8, 1919, was national week for the repair of farm implements.

REPORT SAYS
 WILSON WILL LIVE OVERSEA

Intends to Make His Home
 Abroad, It Is Learned,
 After Democratic Conference.

(A. J. Matthews in Toledo Blade)

President Wilson is planning to live abroad for several years after his present term expires, according to information that was permitted to escape from the members of the Democratic national committee who met the President at the White House recently.

Their understanding is that the President hopes to give personal direction to the League of Nations, and will remain in Europe to carry out the plan. Also that he is collecting material for writing upon the war and events leading up to it, and will write a history covering the United States and world events. Much of this work will be done abroad.

Members of the Democratic committee came away from the White House very much discouraged for the future of their party. Norman E. Mack, of Buffalo, former chairman of the national committee, predicted that either Ohio or New York would supply the next name of the Democratic nominee for president. A few days ago Mr. Mack, in an interview, predicted President Wilson would be nominated in 1920.

In regard to published reports that President Wilson told Democratic committeemen who lunched with him that he would not accept the nomination for a third term, it was stated at the White House that the subject of President Wilson again being a candidate was not mentioned.

It was explained the President merely remarked to his guests that he yearned to get back to writing and that he had in contemplation the compiling of a history.

SUFFERING FROM DISLOCATED ELBOW

Stanley Hines, son of J. P. Hines, is suffering from a dislocated elbow caused by a fall Tuesday afternoon. He was at work on a house being erected at the lumber camp on the mountain and attempted to swing to the ground from the top of the building by catching hold of a limb of a nearby tree. The limb broke and he fell some ten feet. His left arm struck a sharp piece of wood, throwing the elbow out of place. He went to South Pittsburg to get necessary medical attention.

PLANNING THAT GOOD GARDEN

Grow What the Family Likes to Eat and What are Nourishing

SANDY LOAM SOIL IS BEST

Suggestions Here Given Are For The Home Garden, Not For Commercial Garden—"Tennessee Feeds Herself," Is the Slogan.

(By J. C. Miles, Division of Extension, University of Tennessee.)

- What to Grow
1. Whatever the family likes.
  2. The most nourishing vegetables, such as potatoes, peas, beans, carrots, turnips, etc.
  3. Relishes and salads, such as lettuce, radishes, onions, etc.
  4. One or two new vegetables each year. Most gardeners do not grow enough different kinds of vegetables.
- Selecting the Garden Site
1. Avoid too large a garden—much can be grown on little space if properly enriched and worked.
  2. Near the house—the backyard, if possible, or a vacant lot near the home, because it can be worked at spare moments and there is not much danger of vegetables being stolen.
  3. Plenty of sunshine is needed. Ground should not be planted that does not get sunshine at least half of the day.
  4. Drainage—the water should not stand on the garden after rain.
  5. Soil—the best soil is a sandy loam; light colored, shady soils are poorest; heavy clays are poor, but both can be used if heavily manured.

- Making Plans
1. Get a piece of heavy wrapping paper, draw a map of your garden, lay off each row and indicate what you are going to plant in each row. Plan for succession plantings. Use this map through the year for recording work, such as dates of planting, harvesting, etc.
  2. Place the tallest crops on the north or west side.
  3. Plant lettuce, radish, mustard, spinach and turnip in same row with Irish potatoes or onions.

BOYS AND GIRLS HAVE CHANCE TO BECOME
 POULTRY CLUB MEMBERS

(By R. N. Crane)

Boys and girls, look!

Had you thought about the profits that you could make raising a few pure-bred chickens in your spare time before and after school?

It's heaps of fun, to say nothing about the money.

We had 3,400 members last year—this year we want 30,000. Lots of boy scouts belong, and girl scouts, too!

Frances Easley of Sumner Co., a school girl 15 years old, made a net profit of $147.73.

James Hogan, a regular baseball fan of the same county, made $35.

Kathleen Snoddy of Lincoln Co. made $123.27.

Ross Rogers of Lincoln Co. made $20.25.

Harold McDaniel, from just one setting of 15 eggs, made $14.15.

Mary Cole, who is only 13 years old, made $185.

Rachael Alseep of Williamson Co. made $23.10.

Rossie Whitting, 16 years old, with just a few minutes night and morning, made $53.25.

Gladys Donavan won $10 at the state fair and made $98.50.
